A REPUBLICAN DILEMMA.

The Republican party with its present antagonism stands well to be even more helplessly split than was the Democracy at the time of Cleveland's second term. Roosevelt has announced that he is in favor of the following:

Revision of the tariff.
Overthrow of political bosses.
Punishment of the trusts.
Government control of railroad rates.

Abolition of the spoils system.

When it is taken into consideration that it is the Republican party that encouraged and benefited by the very elements the president now denounces, there will arise the query as to what the Republican party exists for at all. Roosevelt has come out upon these vital issues with the Democrats and many who have heretofore contributed and aided in keeping the Republican party to the fore will hereafter have a feeling quite to the contrary.

What will the Republican party of Dick and Foraker do without the moral and financial aid of the very elements that have been denounced by the president?

County Chairman Bernower has received reports from the Democrats of Canton precinct to the effect that about 40 Democrats in that precinct failed to cast their votes on election day because the precinct had been changed and no notification had been given them of the change. This indicates some of the difficulties that the Democracy of this county had to contend with during the recent election. There were several changes of precincts made, but the board, as organized, is bitterly opposed to the Morning News and refused to print the notifications of the change of the precincts in this paper. This is the first time in the history of the board of election when such an action had been taken, and the county organization hopes that the rule of those responsible for such outrages will be of short duration.

Under the recent ruling of the post-office department there is no need of the local postoffice aspirants doing any more work along the line of landing the local office, for the administration will hereafter continue in office as presidential postmasters who are rated at being "good" or "fair." See reury Cortelyou has given to the press an interview in which he confirms that this will be hereafter the policy followed in his department, and that it has the endorsement of the president.

Labor Commissioner Hatchford, who helped Welker out of the hole when he was caught violating the Ohio employment agency law with his "Ohio Teachers' Agency," spent a good portion of his time during the recent campaign trying to convince Democrats that Holles was the weaker candidate and that they should devote their energy against him in place of against Welker.

The old line Republicans of Mahoning county are all worked up because that stalwart wheelhorse of the party, Gen. Asa Jones, announced through the medium of an Akron paper that he had voted for Patterson at the recent election.

The editor and owner of the Salem Herald is said to be of the opinion that he is about the kind of a man that is wanted to hold down the stewardship of the state penitentiary.

If Bernard Bell is cheated out of his seat as a member of the next general assembly you can count on the News being for him for commissioner of labor.

A CONGRESS OF PARENTS.

The congress of parents held in Brussels cannot but be regarded as an improvement upon the congress of mothers which annually invades some one or other of our cities, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. This is the first time, we believe, the father has received recognition of this character and has been invited to air his opinions, such as they are, on the rearing of children. This evidence of a disposition on the part of women to admit that occasionally a man stumbles upon a good idea, by accident, cannot but be gratifying to the meeker, sometimes erroneously called the sterner sex. Whether, after being invited, any man will be able to get a word in edgewise, we do not know. It is enough, for the present, to know the cause of man's emancipation is making progress. The day may yet come when woman will admit that one man in 10 knows how to hold the baby.

ADVICE TO COLLEGE STUDENTS

Our college presidents have been giving some remarkably sensible advice to their students of late, says the Chicago News. There seems to be a growing disposition on the part of higher education to concern itself with practical problems of daily living. The heads of Columbia and Yale have recently spoken in no uncertain terms concerning the glaring dishonesty which has been exposed in high places. President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard follows up the good work with a forceful address on the subject of clean living. The boys are admonished to "act toward all women as though they were going to marry some good woman inside of a month." The modern college has a mission aside from the purely intellectual one.

MERRIMENT AND HEALTH.

London physicians have taken up the laughter treatment and are prescribing it as an alternative to tonics or drugs. For the time being the raw-food cure, electric baths, open air, starvation, Pinson rays, soothing music and going barefoot are set aside in favor of unrestrained mirth. "For one thing," says a London doctor, discussing then the remedy, "it accelerates the circulation and so aids digestion. It relieves the brain by quickening the movement of the blood through the veins and vessels."

How the laughing theory and the germ theory work together is not exactly apparent to the lay mind. Perhaps the cachinnation shakes the bacillus and has the effect of scaring it away. Possibly it jars the phagocytes into great activity and sends them hustling about the anatomical system on their appointed police duty of arresting vagabond germs and trespassing microbes. Whatever the facts may be, the new cure is certainly safe and sane and worthy of a trial.

PUNISHMENT WHERE NEEDED.

Public indignation should be vented on men implicated in the use of entrusted funds for private ends, says the Boston Globe. Their previous respectability should not save them, nor should the fact that they have not wrecked the companies committed to their charge. They have sinned grievously against the people of the United States. They have substituted recklessness for conservatism in their investment of the public's money. They have used the public's money to affect the stock market artificially to the great loss of honest investors all over the land. They have, unquestionably, also employed it to defraud legislators. They have, in short, not only seriously threatened the material interests of the people of the United States, and of the old world as well, but have been an immense force in corrupting public morals.

PAY FOR THE SOLDIER.

There is a note of interest in the plan of the Paymaster General of the army for an increase in the pay of enlisted men. He admits that they are the best paid, best clothed and best fed soldiers in the world, but he believes they should have more money because men who do about the same work in civil life receive more for their exertions.

This is not the first time an effort has been made in this direction, and in every instance it has failed. There is a notable absence of interest on the part of the soldier, indicating that he is satisfied with being all that the Paymaster General claims for him, says the Pittsburgh Gazette.

Being an American and intelligent he would complain if there were cause. The requirements of the service are not such as to prevent an expression of opinion or suppress the right of petition. If he wanted more money he would ask for it. Doubtless he would take an increase if it were offered, but does it not appear in the light of an extravagance and against the theories of discipline to create a condition for which there is no apparent demand?

STRANGE LETHARGY.

Our War Department has been reproached with the fact that it dispatched infantry, artillery, and cavalry officers to watch the Japanese operations, but did not deem it worth while to send a medical officer on a like mission, says the New York Globe. Major Seaman, in a recent discussion, declared that the surgeon general of the army and his two principal assistants have told him within the last year that there have not been enough improvements made in the system of the medical department since 1898 to prevent a recurrence of the sanitary and hygienic failures of the Spanish war. If this is so it is indeed time that the indifference or worse, be removed and radical reform be introduced. The Japanese have demonstrated that it is unnecessary for three soldiers to die from disease to one in action, and if we do not regard the lesson it will be evidence of national imbecility. Most strange is it that the medical corps should be compelled to resort to public agitation to rouse the general staff and the line officers from lethargy.

MODERN MORALS AND METHODS.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, recently made some timely remarks to the students of that institution, says the Pittsburgh Gazette. He used the insurance disclosures as a text upon which he based a denunciation of modern business methods. He declared that "just now the American people are receiving some powerful lessons in practical ethics."

"Put bluntly," continued Mr. Butler, "the situation which confronts the Americans today is due to lack of moral principle. New statutes may be needed, but statutes will not put moral principle where it does not exist. The greed for gain and the greed for power have blinded men to the old-time distinction between right and wrong. Both among business men and at the bar are to be found advisers counted shrewd and successful, who have substituted the penal code for the moral law as the standard of conduct. Right and wrong have given way to the subtler distinction, legal and not illegal, or better, perhaps, between honest, law honest and dishonest."

SUPERANNUATED

It will be too bad indeed if the future of the country has to depend on its present old men. Admiral Dewey declares that our naval officers are too old.

"The nation," he says, "will surely meet with disaster in a naval war unless younger men are given command of the ships of our navy."

But we think it would be cruel and sad to oust the old men. By the time that the next war happens, we hope that all our dear old commanders of today will have died natural, comfortable, peaceful and even happy deaths. And we hope that some of our young men will have grown older by that time.

GOOD BOYS COST $160 PER YEAR.

Estimate Given by an Ohio Institution for the Prevention of Crime.

The cost of a school for the development of good boys is thus stated by Eugene Wood in his article, "A School for Boys," in Everybody's:

"It costs the state of Ohio about $160 a year for each boy. A useful, capable man is worth to society, on the average, $10,000. These 11,000 boys cost the state of Ohio, then, say, $2,960,000. Say 7,000 of them were rescued. That is $70,000,000 recovered to society on the investment of $2,000,000.

"It has been figured that every criminal does about $2,000 damage a year, leaving entirely out of the estimate what it costs to maintain our plant for the detection, prevention and punishment of crime. Each man will be a criminal not less than twenty years. That's $40,000,000 damages multiplied by 7,000 boys, or $280,000,000 damages saved, not counting the cost of the anti-criminal plant. Has it paid to run this Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster?"

"And even if it hadn't paid financially, isn't it worth while?"

Lackawanna Railroad Appointment. Charles F. McTague, contracting agent of the Lackawanna railroad, at present attached to the office of the general eastern freight agent, New York city, has been appointed commercial agent of that road at Cleveland to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of J. J. Byrne, who goes to Syracuse to become division freight agent of the Lackawanna in territory north of Binghamton. The appointment is effective December 1st.

Modern Social Demands.

One curious effect of taking ourselves so seriously is the enormously increased importance of the interesting. Society fairly bristles with the interesting. Sometimes one wonders where the uninteresting go. Modern society demands that you should be something or do something or say something, or at least pretend to. It is understood that you must be celebrated, or notorious, or well advertised, or cheeky, and even dishonest, if it is on a magnificent scale. At any rate, you must take yourself seriously and get a swelled head.—Fortnightly Review.

THE DISCOVERER.

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.
No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration. Falling and Displacement of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Leucorrhoea than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it. Womb troubles, causing pain, weight and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that Bearing-down Feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, Dizziness, Faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the Uterus, which this medicine always cures. Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound always cures.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.
